About

Associate

Jonas Thorsdalen Wik is an associate in Hjort's Employment Law department. Wik assists both Norwegian and international clients with negotiations and dispute resolutions for the Norwegian courts, as well as cases pertaining to termination of employment, layoffs, competition clauses and temporary employment. Wik has also assisted in several grievance cases concerning employees.

Previously, Wik has worked as a research assistant at the Department of Private Law. He was member of the 'Labour Law Group', responsible for research and academic tasks at the Department. Wik wrote his master's thesis entitled "What is the minimum requirements of a permanent employment? With particular regard to the employee's right to "predictability for work", cf. aml. § 14-9 .

Wik has had several internships at various law firms, including in the legal department of LO.
